Judith B. White was born August 4, 1938, in Washington, IA, the daughter of Irvin W. and Esther (Patterson) White. Judy had worked at the University of Iowa in Iowa City from 1958-1995, retiring as a Supervisor. She enjoyed crocheting, watching movies, reading books and growing flowers. Judy also loved to travel, going to Hawaii, Switzerland and most of Europe and Italy. She also enjoyed watching the rainbow lights created by the crystals hanging in her kitchen.

Judy will be dearly missed by her father, Irvin W. White of rural Columbus Junction; her cousins, Sally Jo Schultz and her husband, Steve of Ainsworth, Lynda Miksch and husband, Jim of Washington, Theresa Finch and husband, Ken of Ankeny, IA and Carole Martin of Washington; her uncle, Frank Lukavsky and wife, Evelyn, of Washington; her aunts, Mary Lou Mitchell and husband, Gib, of Washington, Joann Palmer and husband, Tom of Washington and Lillian Evans of New London; and her adopted sister, Joyce Paul and husband, Ron, of Coralville.

Judy was preceded in death by her grandparents; her mother in 1976; and several aunts and uncles.
